Moody excited to join academy team

IN a move that is sure to benefit aspiring young cricketers in the South West, the Western Australian Cricket Association has announced an exciting new development concerning the WACAs Regional High Performance Program.

Perdaman Industries, who signed on as principle sponsors to the academy in 2009, have just agreed to continue in this role for at least another two years.

And if that wasn't enough, Australian cricketing legend Tom Moody has joined the team in as consultant and will work in conjunction with coach Andy Cottam.

Speaking from the South West Cricket Academy at Dalyellup

College, where the announcement was made last week, Moody said he was pleased to be able to play a part in the development of the state's future cricketers.

"Now is an exciting time to be a young cricketer in the South West Region," he said.

Believing the facilities at the academy to be "second to none", Tom went on to say that one of the advantages to having such a great program is the ability to attract new players to the sport.

While acknowledging that he does have a lot of other commitments, Tom plans on spending "quite a bit" of time at the academy.
